IQAT TRAQS Newsletter

Edition #2
August 29, 2006

Dear Betsy,

IQAT is making traqs in the distance learning community!

During a recent tour, a future subscriber said, "This is visionary! IQAT has the potential to have a true impact for our institution."

In this issue:

- Refer a friend to IQAT
- New features of IQAT
- Meet the voices on the other end of the line

New features of IQAT

IQAT has introduced a number of new features that will make it easier for subscribers to submit and view benchmarked data. The five sections of the survey have been split into five unique surveys, each of which can be submitted individually without having to complete the others. Likewise, subscribers can now view benchmarked data for each survey individually once it has been submitted.

Josh manages the IQAT team and has been a main- player in the project's growth. He oversees IQAT's development and attends to subscriber concerns.

New-subscriber services

Refer a friend to IQAT

Did you know, the more institutions that sign up for IQAT, the more data you have to compare against?

Refer your friends to IQAT and help build a more comprehensive database of information.

Your friends will get access to all of IQAT's features and you will get a larger survey sample (plus $25 for each person you refer.) So, spread the word!

Coming in September, the surveys for AY 2005- 2006. Stay tuned!
